What is an ADRC?

The ADRC is the first place to go for resources related to aging or living with a disability. We provide unbiased information and options available to help individuals make informed choices at no cost regardless of income. The ADRC is wheel-chair accessible and interpreters are provided at no cost to consumers.

We offer:

- *Office/Home Visits
- *Telephone Consultation
- *Flexible Appointment Scheduling
- *Walk-ins Welcome

Who Does ADRC Serve?

We provide information and assistance to help older adults, individuals with disabilities, their families and caregivers find services and resources to keep them living well and independently.

Our information and assistance is free and completely confidential. Some services are based on program eligibility and available on a limited basis. Whether there are private or public resources needed, we are here to provide information and options available to stay in your home or community safely.
